WEST SIDE HIGH SCHOOL • NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

PRINCIPAL

Francis B. Snavely

Graduates, you are on the threshold of new responsibilities and duties and new opportunities. Many of you will be welcomed by colleges and employers because your record is such that we can recommend you. Others of you have wasted too many of your opportunities here. You will have to start with this handicap. You live in a great free country which offers you opportunity after failure in a way that has never been open to youth. Privileges of position and great wealth are being curtailed in this country and are being spread to the great masses such as you and me. We must also accept our share of the responsibilities and duties which were formerly discharged by people in great power. The ever levelling process of democracy must fail unless each of us accepts his fair share of responsibility for better law making, better administration of law, more generosity in charity, and more personal responsibility to our religious beliefs.

FRANCIS B. SNAVELY

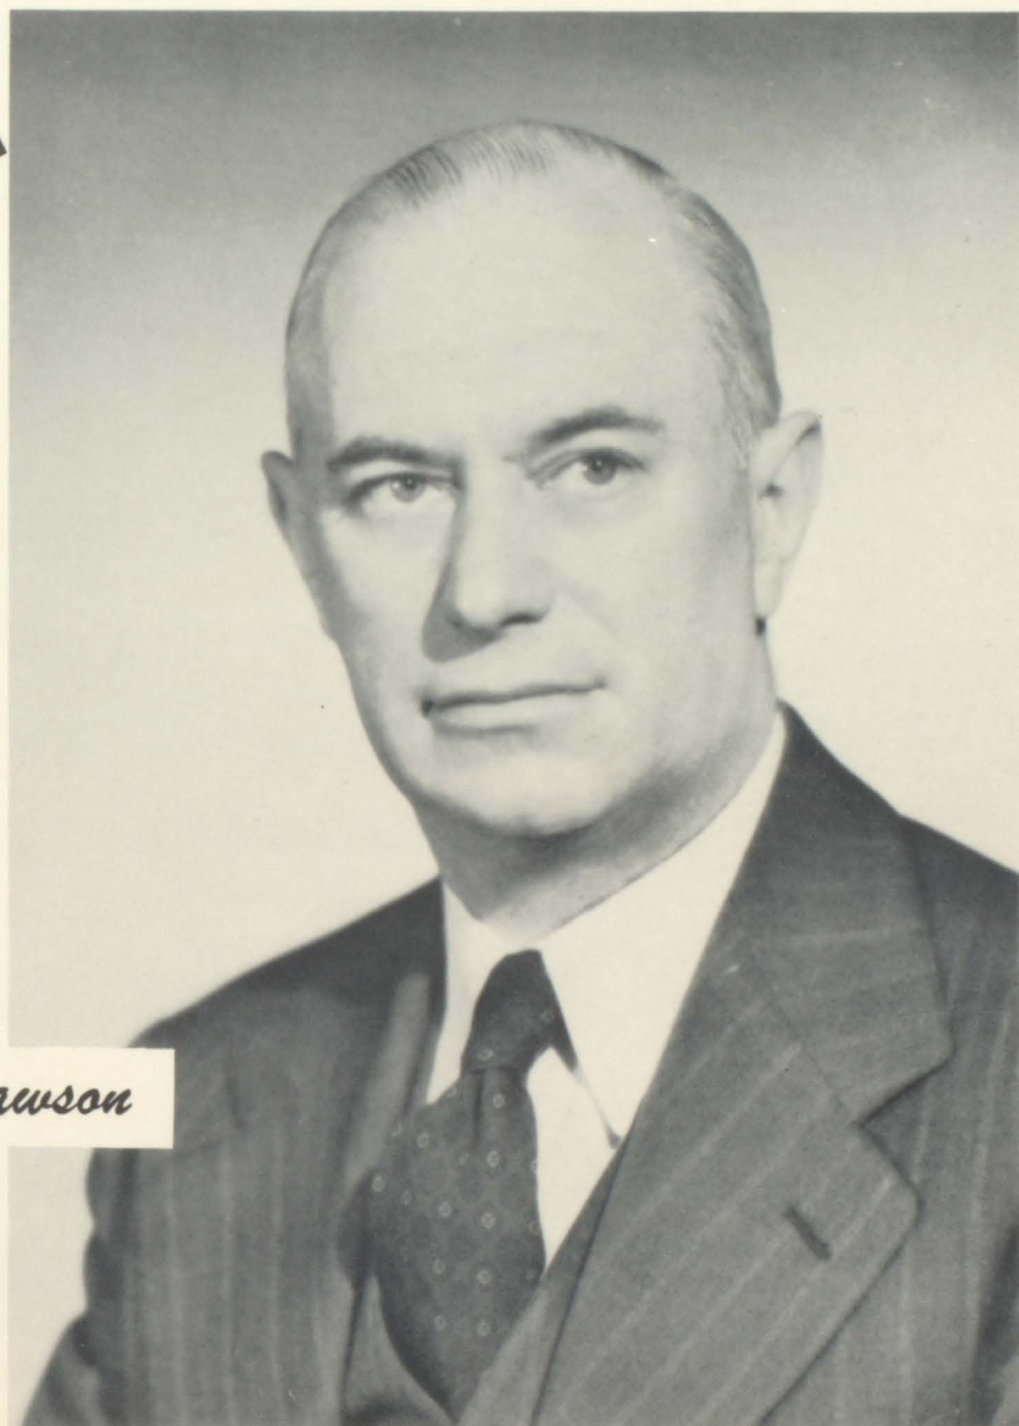

Graduation is always a mixture of sadness and pleasure. To break old ties is difficult, but to look into the distant future is a thrilling experience. May your futures be all that you would like them to be—success—fame—happiness—and the best of luck.

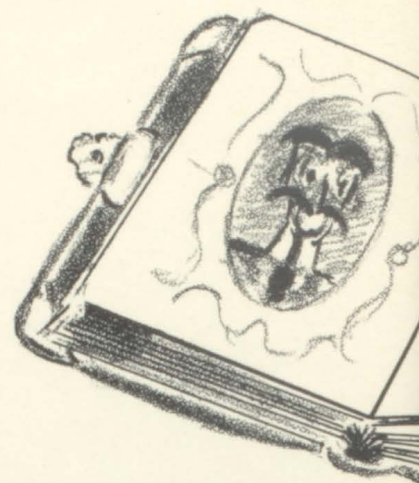

EDGAR K. DAWSON

VICE-PRINCIPAL

Laurette Connors

CLASS

We, the graduation Class of January 1950, wish to express our sincerest appreciation and deepest gratitude to our hardworking and ever helpful advisers: Miss Laurette Connors and Mr. Bertram Trachtenberg.

We are indebted to Miss Connors for all the work she has done with us in organizing the Senior Reception, presenting the Senior Play, and planning our other senior activities.

Bertram Trachtenberg

ADVISERS

Mr. Trachtenberg will always be remembered by us, the graduating seniors, for all the work and effort he has given to us in endeavoring to keep our financial problems in order and for all the other forms of aid he has given us.

Since words nor actions will ever fully illustrate the sincerity of our feeling of appreciation and gratitude to our Class Advisers, "We Seniors" can only express our sentiments with just four humble words, "Thank you very much."

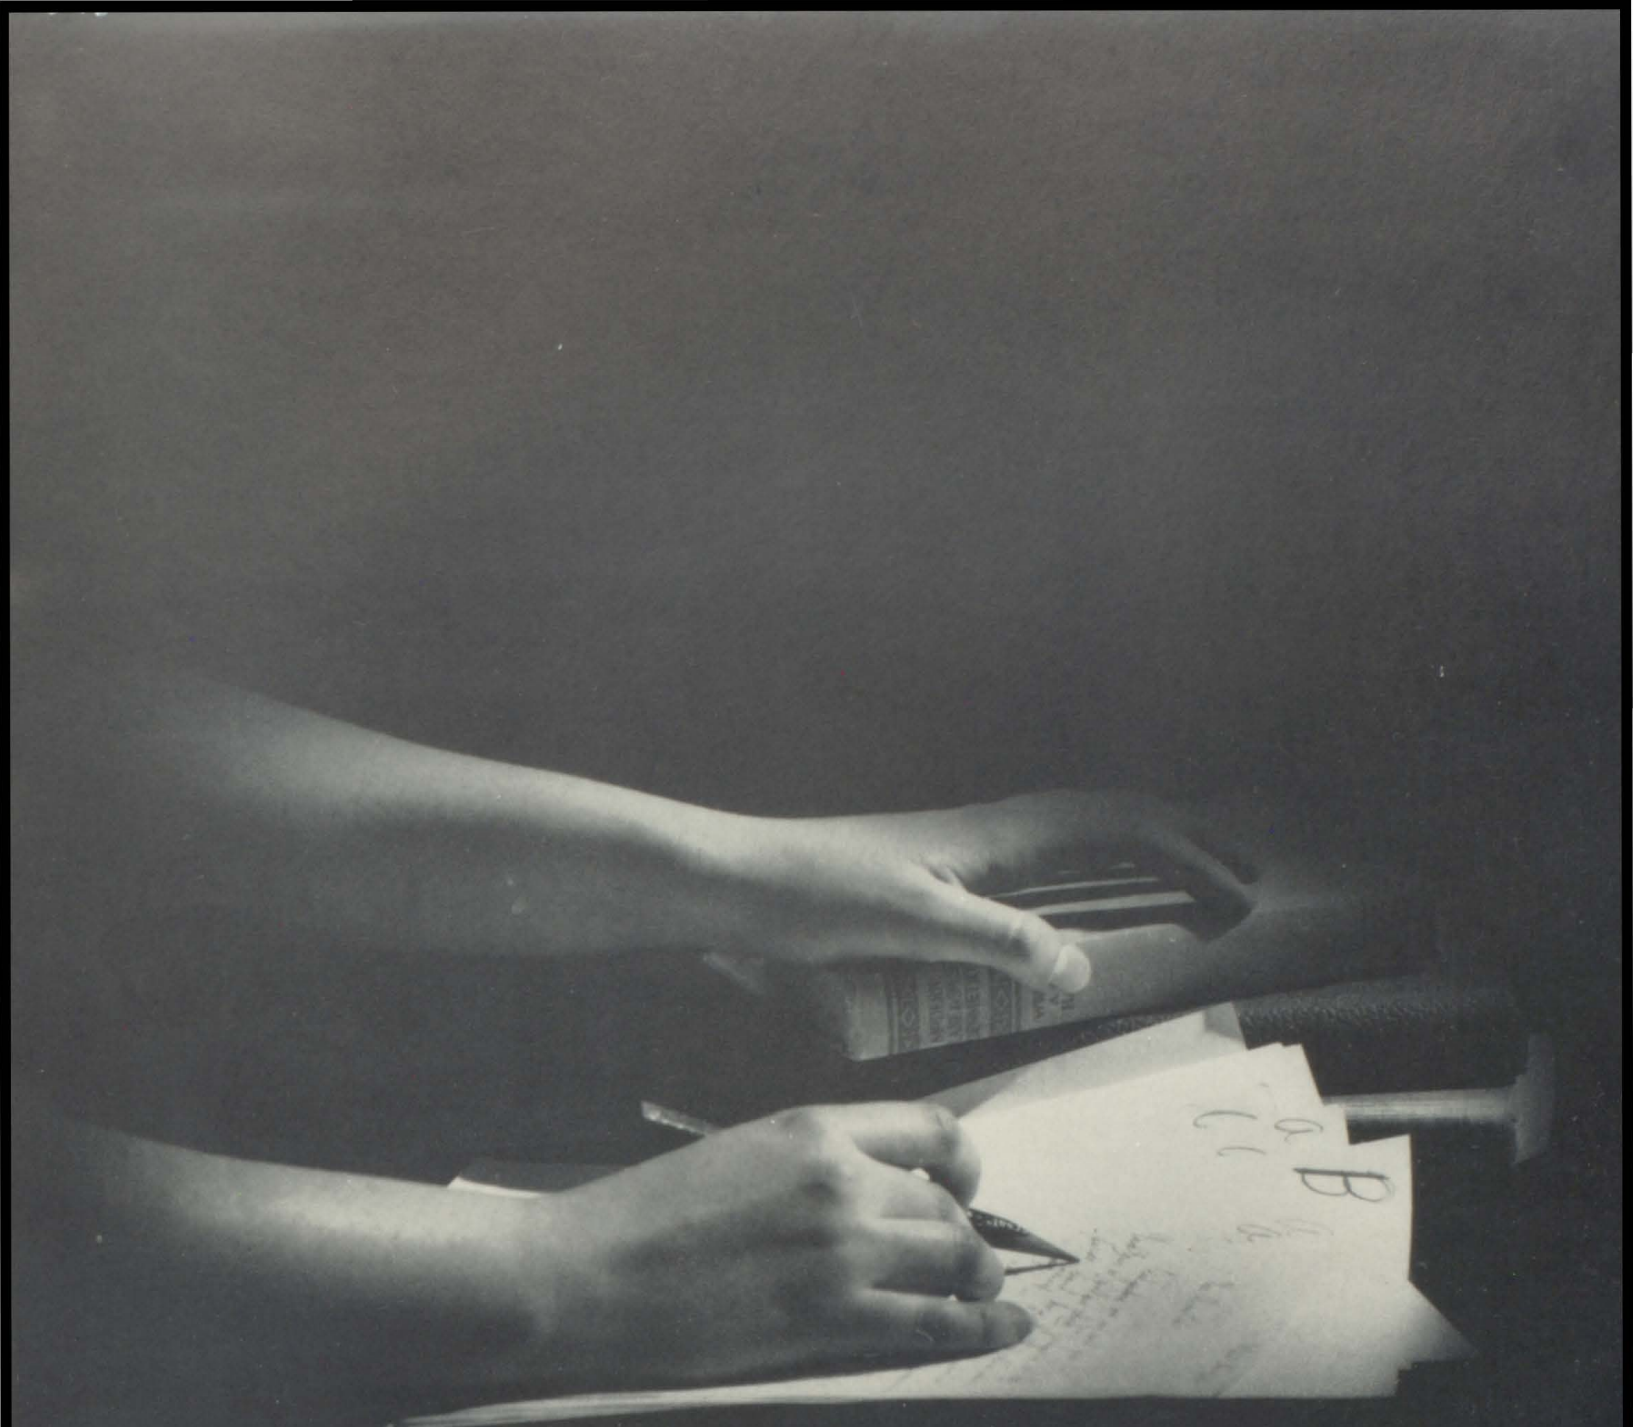

DEDICATION

Helen Ayres Clarke

Though letters are only symbols, we hope that the few which appear on this page are symbolic enough to express the deep appreciation which has swelled the heart of every Senior for Miss Clarke.

She has worked untiringly at the job of editing this yearbook. Through her the task, which was a tedious one, became pleasant and interesting, and it is because of this that we take great pleasure in dedicating this yearbook to Miss Clarke. We trust that this will sufficiently express our thanks to her.
